AS A LEGIONAIRE ARTIST SEES HIM

An Accident in the Air

ONE bright morning, an airplane mounted into the blue sky, took a graceful curve and

This is the first contribution by Chauncey Grethkopf, aged 12, of 1504 North Fourth street. You can see it is an ambitious undertaking for a lad of his age. But hasn't he done well? He tried very, very hard. He drew some of this over and over again. He tried to do his best for The Dispatch Junior Legion page. Chauncey said that he was going to do many more things for the pages. Watch closely and see what comes forth next from the pen of this ambitious artist.

Her First Day at School

MAE just couldn't decide what dress she would wear to school the first day. Finally

SPIRIT OF ST. PATRICK IN ERIN

ERIN is the poetical name for Ireland and St. Patrick is its patron saint. The picturesque quality of old Ireland with its old castle in the background, abundant flowers and the shamrock in the hat of the young, happy Irish boy, depicted here by Chancey Grosbeck, aged 13, 1004 North Fourth street, is to tell you that St. Patrick's day will soon be here. It is March 17. Your "man" thinks this is an interesting piece of work.
